

Terra Dotta Newsletter, March 2013

A New Look

After more than six months of development, Terra Dotta is rolling out a new corporate image. On April 1, we will launch a new TerraDotta.com website.

Although our look is changing, our commitment to offering the very best software solutions for higher education remains.

Did You Know?

For easier formatting, emails can be composed in a WYSIWYG editor.

To replace the plain text field for writing emails with a WYSIWYG editor, go to the System Settings - > System Features - > Features tab and enable the setting for "HTML WYSIWYG Editor."

New Clients:

Conference Season: A Time for Learning, Sharing Expertise and Networking

By: Gary Rhodes; Ph.D., Director, Center for Global Education

This month's article discusses the benefit of attending conferences, including the ability to collect vital new information in the given conference's field, meet with or learn from experts, and make connections that might be difficult to establish online or over the phone. The article closes with a list of the author's preferred annual conferences and the benefits of attending each of them.
